

Making decisions remotely

A toolkit

Golden
Marzipan

Making strategic decisions has always been difficult.

Any good leader knows that to be true during normal times, let alone over the course of a pandemic.

But there is a real opportunity to be more efficient and productive than ever before, if you just plan to adapt well.

Follow these steps at your next virtual meeting...

Golden
Marzipan

Double-diamond thinking

The two diamonds represent a process of exploring an issue more widely or deeply (divergent thinking) and then taking focused action (convergent thinking).

Discover. Define. Develop. Deliver.

Visual real-time collaboration

Seeing and working on the same topic with real-time collaboration thanks to tools like Mural is a brilliant way to be creative with your teams virtually.

Steering the team away from heavy talking meetings can help your team feel better connected with their peers.

Golden
Marzipan

Decide early on how you will come to a decision

There are four main ways for groups to make decisions: Dictat, Delegation, Democracy or Consensus.

No one method is inherently better than the others but different contexts call for different approaches.

Deciding on your approach early on will save you time in the long run!

Golden
Marzipan

Let us know if you've tried any of these decision making methods in your organisation!

Golden
Marzipan

Golden Marzipan's experts are passionate about offering the right tools and advice for effective decision making in the housing sector.

Please, get in touch if you want us to make it possible for your organisation.

peter@goldenmarzipan.co.uk